Emotions and the British Government’s Decision for War in 1914
   John W. Young ............................................................... 543

After One Hundred Years of Service: Hegemony, Pan-Americanism, and the Monroe Doctrine Centennial Anniversary, 1923
   Alex Byrne ................................................................. 565

An Opportunity to Strike a Blow? The United States Government and the Armenian Apostolic Church, 1956–1963
   James R. Stocker ........................................................... 590

Non-Alignment and Beyond: India’s Interest in Latin America, 1961–1972
   Ryan A. Musto ............................................................. 613

‘Creative Ferment in Eastern Europe’: Thatcher’s Diplomacy and the Transformation of Hungary in the Mid-1980s
   Gábor Bátonyi ............................................................... 638

   Michael Hoopes ........................................................... 667

‘The Privileged Friendship’: Reassessing the Central Intelligence Agency Operation at Zaire’s Kamina Airbase
   Sobukwe Odinga ............................................................ 692

Rights or Wishes? Conflicting Views over Human Rights and America’s Involvement in the Nicaraguan Contra War
   Erik A. Moore ............................................................... 716

Correction ................................................................. 738